WOMEN’S HEALTH & URBAN LIFE: AN INTERNATIONAL & INTERDISCIPLINARY JOURNAL
(Vol. XIV, Issue 1, December, 2018)
Special Issue: Women and Precarious Work: Health Implications
Special Issue Editor: Leslie Nichols

Contents

Special Issue Editor’s Introduction
LESLIE NICHOLS, Wilfred Laurier University

Newcomer Women’s Experience of Immigration and Precarious Work in Toronto
LESLIE NICHOLS, Wilfred Laurier University

An analysis of Ontario’s Bill 148: Do fairer workplaces and better jobs lead to improved health for precarious workers?
KIKI CHANG, York University

Welfare States, Cultural Values and Women’s Precarious Work: Questions Raised by Welfare State and Cultural Values Theory
DENNIS RAPHAEL, York University

1 The Women’s Health & Urban Life: An International & Interdisciplinary Journal is an on-line journal at the University of Ontario Institute of Technology. The founder, first general editor and editor emeritus was Aysan Sev’er, University of Toronto. The WH & UL is an open access electronic journal.